Standards of Business Conduct

WarnerMedia is committed to conducting global business with high ethical and legal standards. That commitment begins with WarnerMedia’s Standards of Business Conduct (SBC), available at <http://www.warnermediagroup.com/company/corporate-governance/codes-of-conduct>. The SBC apply to all employees of WarnerMedia and serve as a model for comparable codes of conduct that have been adopted at each of WarnerMedia’s businesses, including offices outside the U.S. The SBC stress the importance of abiding by the law, being truthful, being transparent in our business dealings, putting the needs of our shareholders and customers first, and avoiding excesses and ethical lapses.

Ethical Sourcing and Supply Chain

In addition to the SBC, WarnerMedia has policies on specific topics to provide guidance to employees. In 2007, Time Warner Inc.’s Board of Directors adopted ethical sourcing guidelines, which apply to vendors from whom WarnerMedia purchases directly and to whom the Company’s subsidiaries license images, brands and characters. The Guidelines establish expectations for the vendors' business operations as they relate to WarnerMedia and its businesses and reflect our commitment to conduct business in an ethical manner and in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The Guidelines set forth WarnerMedia’s expectations with respect to, among other areas: (1) child labor, (2) involuntary labor, (3) coercion, abuse and harassment of supplier employees, (4) working hours and compensation, and (5) worker health and safety.

WarnerMedia reserves the right to take any actions it deems appropriate to monitor and promote adherence to the Guidelines. WarnerMedia's Internal Audit department reviews contracts with vendors as part of its division and departmental audits to confirm whether the Guidelines have been incorporated.

¹ On June 14, 2018, Time Warner Inc. was acquired by AT&T Inc. via merger and was renamed “Warner Media, LLC.”

Training

WarnerMedia understands that a key component of an effective compliance environment is employee training and education regarding the rules and policies that apply to their business activities, as well as WarnerMedia's commitment to ethical business conduct. Employees receive training on the SBC when they join WarnerMedia, as well as regular ethics and compliance training on laws that apply to our business activities to reinforce WarnerMedia's commitment to compliance with laws and ethical behavior.

Reporting and Monitoring Misconduct

Employees are encouraged to report any misconduct or unethical behavior. WarnerMedia and its businesses provide multiple means of reporting concerns, including a HelpLine monitored 24-7, which enable anonymous reporting where permitted by local law. Third parties can also report concerns, including through the HelpLine (where permitted by local law). These various means of reporting are listed in the SBC and publicized to employees and business partners. WarnerMedia and its businesses encourage anyone to report in good faith issues about potential ethical, legal, regulatory, or human rights violations. WarnerMedia will investigate allegations and take appropriate remedial actions.
